

The specialist for non standard demands

Since 1993, steel and other equivalent materials have shaped the operational base for the family owned and managed pauly STAHLHANDEL. For three generations all activities of our venture have been focused on the subsequent processing of raw materials and finding new innovative techniques to manufacture cutting edge and state-of-the-art products to perfectly fit our customer's needs.

Due to our national as well international alliances we are able to deliver extraordinary material qualities and dimensions at reasonable market prices within your required delivery times.

Today, we are holding more than 900 different material qualities and shapes in our portfolio. The pauly STAHLHANDEL product range is continuously increasing, especially in terms of internationally demanded products.

We guarantee you a high material standard according EN ISO 9001. In addition, we consider certificates such as EN 10204 or other classification societies for your convenience.

All our staff - your point of contact - are steel specialists and/or lathe operators who are trained to handle all different kinds of requests and solve complex requests with the aim to provide you with a competitive advantage.

Continuous development in technical machining and newest equipment are the base to fulfil your demands. With modern machines we are able to realise many dimensions to get nearly to your finished measure or deliver premachined parts for you.
